2017 Shanghai Jiao Tong University Pre-University Programs

For International Students

Introduction

The pre-university training for international students provided by Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) is an international-student-oriented educational program, which aims to enhance international students' language skills, academic performance and communication skills. Students in the pre-university program can make their choice according to their needs to establish a solid foundation for their future studies in undergraduate programs.

This pre-university training plan includes THREE different programs:

Program A: This program is designed for students who have already reached a certain level of Chinese language proficiency but need remediation of other academic subjects. The goal is to enhance their Chinese language skill, foundation knowledge of majors, and cross-culture adaptive capability;

Program B: The target group is students who do not possess any Chinese language skills but have met the requirement of other academic courses of SJTU undergraduate admissions. The goal is to enhance their Chinese language skill and enable them to make great progress in language studies;

Program C: This program is designed for students who have already reached a high level of Chinese language proficiency but need remediation of science subjects including mathematics, physics, chemistry and/or biology.

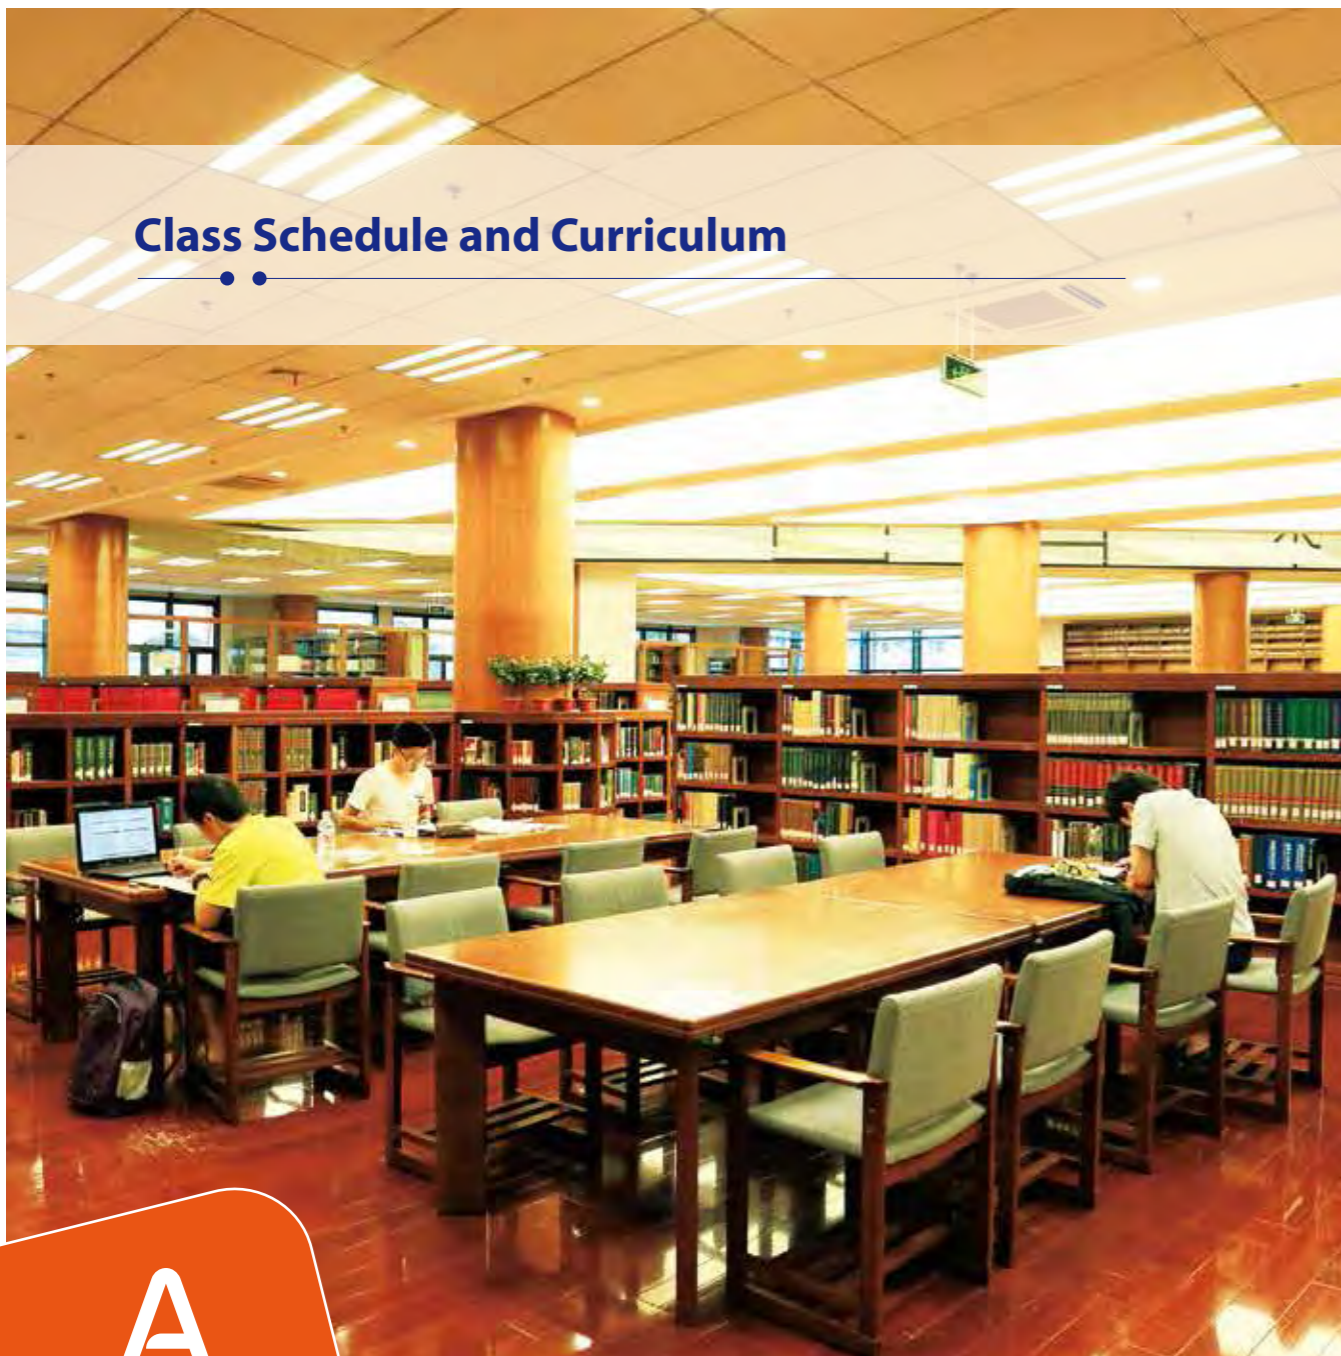

International students, who have participated in SJTU's pre-university programs achieved good grades in their academic courses and passed the SJTU entrance test will gain PRIORITY in undergraduate admissions of Shanghai Jiao Tong University.
